FACTS

What does Bancorp Bank, N.A. ("The Bancorp") do with your personal information?

Why?
Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?
The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:
- Social Security number and account balances
- Account transactions and payment history
- Transaction history and purchase history
When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?
All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information, whether The Bancorp shares your information, and whether you can limit this sharing.

Who we are

Who is providing this notice? This notice is provided by The Bancorp Bank, N.A.

What we do

How does The Bancorp protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

We also limit access to information to those employees for whom access is necessary.

How does The Bancorp collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example when you

- Open an account or pay your bills
- Make deposits or withdrawals from your account
- Provide us card or account information or give us your contact information

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can’t I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- Sharing for affiliates’ everyday business purposes – information about your creditworthiness
- Affiliates from using your information to market to you
- Sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state law.

What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?

Your choices will apply to everyone on your account.

Other important information

- California Residents — In accordance with California law, we will not share information we collect about you with companies outside of The Bancorp, unless the law allows. For example, we may share information with your consent, to service your accounts, or to provide rewards or benefits to which you are entitled. We will not share information we collect about you with our joint marketing partners without your authorization. We will limit sharing around our companies to the extent required by California law.

  Effective January 1, 2020, the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA) permits consumers who are California residents to (a) ask a covered business which categories and pieces of personal information it collects and how the information is used; (b) request deletion of the information; and (c) opt out of the sale of such information, if applicable. These provisions of the CCPA do not apply to personal information collected, processed, shared, or disclosed by financial institutions pursuant to federal law. To contact us with questions about our compliance with the CCPA, call 1-833-981-1080; visit our website: thebancorpbank.com; or write to: The Bancorp/CCPA, PO Box 5017, Sioux Falls, SD 57117-5017.

- Vermont Residents — In accordance with Vermont law, we will not share personal financial information about you, other than transaction experience information, with other Bancorp companies or affiliates, nor will we share any personal financial information about you with other Bancorp companies for marketing purposes.

- Nevada Residents — We are providing you this notice pursuant to state law. You may be placed on our internal Do Not Call List by following the directions in the “To limit our sharing” section. Nevada law requires that we also provide you with the following contact information: Bureau of Consumer Protection, Office of the Nevada Attorney General, 555 E. Washington St., Suite 3900, Las Vegas, NV 89101; phone number: 702-486-3132; email: BCPINFO@ag.state.nv.us.
